

FSLI unveils Notify, the ultimate in scheduled information delivery

Annapolis, MD (March 4, 2005) – Foundation Software Laboratories Inc. (fsl.net), a leader in Financial Management Software for the Legal and Professional Services industries, announced today, the general availability of a new automated scheduling module, Notify, for FSLI's PD Partner Financial Management suite. Notify provides the ability to execute report jobs as an unattended process, parse the results so each attorney receives their individual segment through their Outlook inbox. Notify will also automatically create report archive directories enabling firms to maintain a historical record of each required report. Notify is an integrated component of PD Partner, incorporating the business rules associated with all financial management modules.

"Law firms are becoming overwhelmed with financial management data. The challenge is extracting just the information that is meaningful to a user and presenting that information in an easy to access format. With the advent of Notify, attorneys and managers now receive the required information as an Outlook email, automatically, on a pre-determined schedule. In addition to enhancing attorney and client services, Notify actually reduces the administrative and IT staff time requirements associated with the information delivery process."

Carl Mack – President and CEO for FSLI.

"Our priority at FSLI is to continually deliver innovative, new technologies that help our clients manage the business of practicing law. Notify, combined with our other business intelligence tools provides our clients with easy access to the real time information they need to make informed business decisions. Report jobs are scheduled once, then execute automatically. This "set it and forget it" approach drastically reduces the cost associated with the firm's reporting process each month. The response from our customers has been overwhelmingly positive. One firm implemented the system and immediately saved two days a month of the administrator's time."

Denise Wikman – VP Sales and Marketing FSLI

Notify is a Microsoft .NET application that acts as intelligent middleware between the PD Partner MS SQL Server database and Crystal Reports. The system was designed to overcome the traditional barriers of of-line reporting through such features as dynamic runtime parameters and customizable bursting routings for report parsing. Notify sets a benchmark for automated reporting and delivery tools for the legal profession.
